

Stephen Dziedzic @stephendziedzic · 18 Feb 2020

The ravages of opium. Picture taken in Singapore, early 20th century

← Tweet

Soon-Tzu Speechley 孫子 @speechleyish

Membalas kepada @stephendziedzic

My great grandparents' opium licenses for the Government Chandu Shop (originally granted by the British, but these ones dating from the Japanese Government of Selangor during the Occupation), along with other family documents (including my Ah Kong's MCA membership lol).

Terjemahkan Tweet

12:20 PTG · 18 Feb 2020 · Twitter for Android

2 Tweet semula 15 Suka

🔍 Cari Twitter

Orang yang berkaitan

Soon-Tzu Speechley 孫子 @speechleyish

Architectural historian and editor. Architectural translation and classical reception in the British Empire. I like new books and old buildings. He/him/伊

Stephen Dziedzic @stephendziedzic

Foreign Affairs (Asia Pacific) reporter, Australian Broadcasting Corporation. Based in Parliament House, Canberra. Previously Delhi, Singapore. abc.net.au/news

Trend untuk anda

Sukan · Sedang Trend

Saka
748K Tweet

Sedang trend di Malaysia

#israelkoyak
12.2K Tweet

Sukan · Sedang Trend

Beckham
43.1K Tweet

Sukan · Sedang Trend

#Forzaltalia
37.8K Tweet

Sukan · Sedang Trend

Rashford
560K Tweet

Tunjukkan lagi

Terma Perkhidmatan Dasar Privasi Dasar Kuki
Maklumat iklan Lagi ... © 2021 Twitter, Inc.

Mesej

Cari Twitter

Stephen Dzedzic @stephendziedzic · 18 Feb 2020
Membalas kepada @speechleyish
Oh wow!

1

mhar4 望之儼然，即之也儼然. @mhar4 · 18 Feb 2020
Contrary view here, for what it's worth:
opendemocracy.net/en/unravelling...

Always Say Yes @AlwaysSayYes · 18 Feb 2020
Membalas kepada @speechleyish dan @stephendziedzic
Signed by a medical officer - nice one. What is the date on that permit, though?

1

Soon-Tzu Speechley 孫子 @speechleyish · 18 Feb 2020
1942 in the Japanese imperial calendar

	Japanese imperial year - Wikipedia en.m.wikipedia.org
--	---

1

2

Tunjukkan balasan

Mesej

