Bangi Golf Resort , a 36-hole golf course, was designed by Mr Ronald W. Fream of the Golfplan-Ronald Fream Design Group. This is the man who has designed no less than 10 of the world's fifty best golf courses. No stranger to Malaysia, Ronald Fream designed the courses at both the Saujana Golf Course in Subang and Awana Golf Course in Genting Highlands. (Both are listed in the "Fifty Best International Golf Destination Resorts"). The last nine is still under construction.

"Bangi Golf Resort is a course of unique playing character and appearance, with wide playing diversity, scenic fairways, and a sculptured appearance which will fit smoothly into the terrain of the site. It uses and recreates the best of Malaysian natural vegetation and is destined to join the most highly regarded courses in Malaysia and beyond. With carpets of luxurious hybrid Bermudagrass surrounded by lush trees, shrubs and ferns, it will be golf in a garden suitable for any national or international competition."

Bangi Golf Resort is located midway between the KL International Airport in Sepang, Putrajaya and the KL City Centre, situated in the centre of Bandar Baru Bangi and is easily accessible from the PLUS, LDP, SKVE and SILK highways.
