

The area known as "Damansara" back then seems to be in the present-day Shah Alam, specifically the area around Damar Sara Police Station by the Klang River in the map, which was also called the landing place.

Transport by boats ended at the landing place and from there on by Damansara Road (the Good Road in the map) to KL.

mzabduallah and dengilo at's why before there was any brick kilns, Brickfields' name was Batu Lima Blas (Damansara Road).

Reply

5081 - 5100 of 5758 Posts

1

...

253

254

255

256

257

...

288

Join the discussion

Continue with Facebook

 Continue with Google

or sign up with email

Recommended Reading

Classical Karachi - Pre & Post Independence (1947)

Landscapes and Historical Sites

 630  224K

swerveut · updated Nov 9, 2018

Colonial Architecture In Malaysia

Architecture